“This guest house is in an excellent location, quiet and attractive, with beautiful sea views. There is easy access to the shore-line, where a short walk along the beach path takes you to the centre of the action around the historic harbour. Parking is plentiful and secure within the grounds of Ty Gwyn, a rare situation in Aberaeron. My room was spotless, very comfortable and had everything I needed. Mark's abundant hospitality and first-class cuisine, along with his happy and friendly personality, ensures that I will return.”
